

Kevywi

Person 1

You are hosting a party tonight. You know you're expecting some distinguished guests, but you can't remember exactly who it is you've invited. As the guests arrive one-by-one, you must try to work out who they are. Once you have guessed correctly, the guest will leave.

DO NOT TRY TO GUESS UNTIL ALL THE GUESTS HAVE ARRIVED

Person 2

You are going to a party tonight, but the host doesn't know who you are. The guests will arrive at the party one-by-one. You must act in character until the host guesses your name correctly, when you will leave. The host will not try to guess your name until all the guests have arrived.

You are Prince Charles.

Person 3

You are going to a party tonight, but the host doesn't know who you are. The guests will arrive at the party one-by-one. You must act in character until the host guesses your name correctly, when you will leave. The host will not try to guess your name until all the guests have arrived.

You are King Arthur.

Person 4

You are going to a party tonight, but the host doesn't know who you are. The guests will arrive at the party one-by-one. You must act in character until the host guesses your name correctly, when you will leave. The host will not try to guess your name until all the guests have arrived.

You are An Gof.

Person 5

You are going to a party tonight, but the host doesn't know who you are. The guests will arrive at the party one-by-one. You must act in character until the host guesses your name correctly, when you will leave. The host will not try to guess your name until all the guests have arrived.

You are Margaret Thatcher (or Arthur Scargill).

Person 6

You are going to a party tonight, but the host doesn't know who you are. The guests will arrive at the party one-by-one. You must act in character until the host guesses your name correctly, when you will leave. The host will not try to guess your name until all the guests have arrived.

You are Jon Bon Jovi (or Kylie Minogue).

Person 7

You are going to a party tonight, but the host doesn't know who you are. The guests will arrive at the party one-by-one. You must act in character until the host guesses your name correctly, when you will leave. The host will not try to guess your name until all the guests have arrived.

You are Bradley Wiggins (or John Terry)

Person 8

You are going to a party tonight, but the host doesn't know who you are. The guests will arrive at the party one-by-one. You must act in character until the host guesses your name correctly, when you will leave. The host will not try to guess your name until all the guests have arrived.

You are J.K Rowling (or Harry Potter).

Person 9

You are going to a party tonight, but the host doesn't know who you are. The guests will arrive at the party one-by-one. You must act in character until the host guesses your name correctly, when you will leave. The host will not try to guess your name until all the guests have arrived.

You are William Shakespeare (or Charles Dickens).

Person 10

You are going to a party tonight, but the host doesn't know who you are. The guests will arrive at the party one-by-one. You must act in character until the host guesses your name correctly, when you will leave. The host will not try to guess your name until all the guests have arrived.

You are Barack Obama.

Person 11

You are going to a party tonight, but the host doesn't know who you are. The guests will arrive at the party one-by-one. You must act in character until the host guesses your name correctly, when you will leave. The host will not try to guess your name until all the guests have arrived.

You are Vladimir Putin.